Dear ,

I refer to your Freedom of Information Act Request acknowledged by ourselves on 4th September 2020. Your request sought information relating to Female Genital Mutilation (FGM).

1. Is FGM a prosecutable act?

Yes

FGM has been a specific criminal offence in the UK since 1985 when the (UK wide) Prohibition of Female Circumcision Act ("the 1985 Act") was passed. The Female Genital Mutilation Act 2003 ("the 2003 Act") replaced the 1985 Act in England, Wales and Northern Ireland. It modernised the offence of FGM and the offence of assisting a girl to carry out FGM on herself while also creating extra-territorial offences to deter people from taking girls abroad for mutilation. To reflect the serious harm caused, the 2003 Act increased the maximum penalty for any of the FGM offences from five to 14 years' imprisonment.

2. How many cases were sent to the Police or other authorities with a view to prosecution?

All cases of FGM identified by the Health Board are referred to the police.

Since 2017 the data has been held on our incident recording system Datix:

2017 - 31 cases
